FOOD.BE – SMALL COUNTRY. GREAT FOOD

FEVIA (Belgian Food and Drink Federation) is the umbrella trade association of the Belgian food industry. FEVIA represents companies and industry associations active in the production and processing of Belgian food and beverages. FEVIA and its members position Belgian food and drinks internationally with the collective promotional brand “Food.be – Small Country. Great Food” to highlight the main strengths of Belgian food: quality, diversity and innovation.

Quality and food safety throughout the chain

The independent Belgian Federal Agency for the Safety of the Food Chain monitors the compulsory self checking system, based on the European HACCP legislation and certified by third parties.

Diversity is in our DNA

Belgium is famous for its chocolates, beers and Belgian fries. But Belgium is also a global leader in vegetable and fruit products, meat, cookies, cheeses and other dairy products.

Unique innovation model

Belgian companies are leaders in product and process innovation and are supported by two unique knowledge institutes for innovation: Flanders FOOD (www.flandersfood.com) and Wagralim (www.wagralim.be)

Created in 2012, the micro brewery was built around Curtius beer, its first creation. Curtius is a blonde beer triple brewed from 2 barley malts and 1 wheat malt. Its blend of 3 hops offers it great balance between sweetness and bitterness, whilst also offering discreet citrus flavours. Brasserie C aims to be a developer of recipes and brewing concepts, with also 2 others brands: Torpah, a concept for discovering hops based on three single hop beers – Torpah 30, 60 and 90 – each of which offers a different strength of bitterness, and Black C, a stout brewed in the tradition of beers with a high roasted malt content and aromas of coffee and chocolate and powerful bitterness.

We are the only Belgian brewery to use 50 cl glass bottles and our beer is served in 25 cl glasses, which makes it a beer to share.

The Brasserie Val-Dieu is once again brewing real abbey beers on the Val-Dieu site. The Brasserie de l'Abbaye du Val-Dieu is an independent producer of Belgian high-fermentation specialty beers. Like many Belgian abbeys, the Cistercians of Aulne Abbey had been brewing their own beer since the Middle Ages. The Abbey had to provision about 1,000 friars and monks. Strong beers like Blonde, Brune and Triple were served on special occasions. Lighter beers were for daily consumption. In 1849, the brewery was closed. Some 100 years later, lay persons were allowed to brew abbey beers for the first time. Brasserie de l'Abbaye d'Aulne revived the brewing business in 1950. Today, the Abbey produces its specialty Belgian beer following the traditional brewing arts of its founders, the Cistercian monks of Aulne Abbey.
